

analyse the benefits of joining AMI and you'll see it's the perfect choice

actuarial analyst

Joining us at AMI could mean great things for your career. For one, this is a chance to develop your skills within a leading New Zealand insurer. And then there's the role itself - challenging, autonomous and a chance to think "outside the square".

Our Actuarial team is seeking a talented individual to join them as an Actuarial Analyst in AMI's Christchurch Head Office. The Actuarial team plays a critical role in supporting AMI's corporate strategy by providing effective solutions for pricing, capital management, solvency and other management issues.

You will be a highly motivated person with a great deal of energy and determination, eager to apply your analytical skills to a wide range of business problems. You will relish the opportunity to develop technical and innovative ways to help understand and constantly improve AMI's core business - meeting what our customers need, want and value.

You should hold a tertiary qualification with excellent grades. Naturally, you are a high achiever with exceptional numerical and communication skills. You may be a recent graduate, or have proven experience in an analytical role. You may even have already started your actuarial career. You are now ready to go places.

In addition to working within a highly collaborative team, we offer a very stable work environment and first rate on-going training. We'll also provide support to help you progress swiftly with your actuarial studies.

To apply for this position please send your C.V and a covering letter to Allison Langton, Human Resource Advisor, AMI Insurance Ltd, PO Box 2116, Christchurch or email Allison.Langton@ami.co.nz by 5pm Wednesday 9 February 2005.
